NOTICE OF REMOVAL

Defendants VGW Holdings Ltd. (“VGW”) (incorrectly named in the complaint as VGW, Ltd.), VGW Holdings US Inc., VGW US Inc., and VGW Luckyland Inc. (collectively, the “VGW Group”), by counsel, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332, 1441, 1446, and 1453, hereby specially appear for the purpose of this removal and, preserving all defenses, remove this civil action to the United States District Court for the Northern District of Alabama from the Circuit Court of Franklin County, Alabama.

In support of this Notice of Removal, the VGW Group states as follows:

I. OVERVIEW

A. Procedural History

1. On August 25, 2023, Plaintiff Amy Nicole Seal (“Plaintiff”) filed this action against the VGW Group in the Circuit Court of Franklin County, Alabama, Case No. 33-CV-2023-900115.00. True and correct copies of all pleadings and process filed in state court are attached hereto as Exhibit A.

2. Prior to filing this action, on March 8, 2023, Plaintiff initially sued the VGW Group in the Circuit Court of Franklin County, Alabama, No. 33-CV-2023-900031.00, asserting nearly identical allegations and seeking to recover all the money spent by Alabama players on the VGW Group’s online casino-themed social games over the prior year under Alabama Code § 8-1-150(b). See Seal v. VGW Ltd. et al., No. 33-CV-2023-900031, Dkt. 1. On April 11, 2023, the VGW Group timely removed that action to this District on the ground that diversity jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a) was established, given that there was complete diversity of citizenship between the parties and the purchases of all Alabama players over the one year period at issue exceeded $75,000. See Seal v. VGW Ltd. et al., No. 3:23-cv-00462, Dkt. 1. The case was assigned to Judge C. Lynwood Smith, Jr. Id.

3. On April 27, 2023, Plaintiff moved to remand, arguing that the federal court could not aggregate her claims on behalf of all other players in Alabama to satisfy the $75,000 monetary threshold for diversity jurisdiction. Id., Dkt. 5.

4. Around the same time, Plaintiff's counsel sued several other online social casino-themed gaming companies in the Franklin County and Colbert County Circuit Courts based on nearly identical arguments. There too, the companies removed the cases to this District. Certain of those cases were assigned to Judge Smith,¹ and others to Judge Liles C. Burke.² The plaintiffs moved to remand each of the cases.

5. After briefing, Judge Burke remanded the cases assigned to him, finding that he could not aggregate the purchase amounts of all Alabama players to reach the amount in controversy requirement under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a). Judge Burke noted that § 8-1-150(b) does “not seem to permit one person to recover multiple gambling losses for multiple families in the same action,” and that “the manner in which [plaintiff] has brought this action could be viewed as a means to avoid filing a class action lawsuit.” Rice v. Aristocrat Leisure, Ltd., No. 3:23-CV-00480-LCB, 2023 WL 5198510, at *3 n.3 (N.D. Ala. Aug. 11, 2023) (emphasis in original). Nonetheless, Judge Burke ruled that he could not aggregate all Alabama players' purchase amounts under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a) because, as framed in the complaint, "there is a single plaintiff acting in a representative capacity to recover damages that would be payable to non-parties." Id. at *5 (emphasis added).

² Gann v. Huuuge, Inc., No. 3:23-CV-00498-LCB (N.D. Ala.); McGee v. SpinX Games, Ltd., No. 3:23-CV-00777-LCB (N.D. Ala.); Mills v. Zynga, Inc., No. 3:23-CV-00463-LCB (N.D. Ala.); Pilati v. Yellow Soc. Interactive, Ltd., No. 3:23-CV-00485-LCB (N.D. Ala.); Rice v. Aristocrat Leisure, Ltd., No. 3:23-CV-00480-LCB (N.D. Ala.).

6. On August 23, 2023, in response to an Order to Show Cause entered by Judge Smith, the VGW Group explained that it disagreed with Judge Burke's decision regarding non-aggregation but, in any event, federal jurisdiction was appropriate in the VGW Group's case on a separate basis that Judge Burke did not have occasion to consider: because "one Alabama-based player spent more than $75,000 playing [the VGW Group's] games," the court had diversity jurisdiction over that claim and supplemental jurisdiction over the remaining claims on behalf of the other players who spent less. Seal, No. 3:23-cv-00462, Dkt. 19.

7. That same day, Plaintiff moved for leave to reply (id., Dkt. 20), and hours later amended her complaint to say that she no longer sought to recover the money spent by Alabama players who paid more than $75,000 during the relevant period (id., Dkt. 21). The next day, on August 24, 2023, Plaintiff voluntarily dismissed her complaint without prejudice. Id., Dkt. 22. That same day, her counsel voluntarily dismissed every one of the other § 8-1-150(b) online gaming cases pending before Judge Smith, likely for the same reasons.³ Plaintiff filed the instant complaint one day later.

B. Bases for Removal

8. At the time this action was commenced, Plaintiff was domiciled in Franklin County, Alabama. Compl. ¶ 3. Thus, Plaintiff is a citizen of Alabama for purposes of diversity jurisdiction. McCormick v. Aderholt, 293 F.3d 1254, 1257 (11th Cir. 2002) (“Citizenship is equivalent to ‘domicile’ for purposes of federal diversity jurisdiction.”).

9. At the time this action was commenced, VGW was and remains a foreign company, with its principal place of business in Perth WA, Australia. Compl. ¶ 4; Declaration of Michael Thunder, attached hereto as Exhibit B (“Thunder Decl.”) ¶ 2. VGW is an Australian public company. Thus, for purposes of diversity, it is a citizen of a foreign state. 28 U.S.C. § 1332(c)(1).

10. At the time this action was commenced, VGW Holdings US Inc., VGW US Inc., and VGW Luckyland Inc. were and remain corporations organized under the laws of the State of Delaware, with their principal place of business in Delaware. Compl. ¶ 5; Thunder Decl. ¶ 4. Thus, for purposes of diversity, they are citizens of Delaware. 28 U.S.C. § 1332(c)(1).

³ Sornberger v. Sciplay Corp., 3:23-cv-00476-CLS, Dkt. 26 (N.D. Ala.); Mills v. Playtika Ltd., 3:23-cv-00464-CLS, Dkt. 22 (N.D. Ala.); Pilati v. Playstudios US LLC, 3:23-cv-00488-CLS, Dkt. 16 (N.D. Ala.).

11. None of the VGW Group entities has been properly served in accordance with Ala. R. Civ. P. 4. Notwithstanding the lack of service, the VGW Group, by counsel, specially appears for the purpose of this removal and reserves all defenses, including, but not limited to, lack of personal jurisdiction and insufficient service of process. See Kostelac v. Allianz Glob. Corp. & Specialty AG, 517 Fed. App'x 670, 674 n.6 (11th Cir. 2013) (“The removal of an action from state to federal court does not waive any Rule 12(b) defenses[.]”); see also Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(5) (defense of “lack of personal jurisdiction” and “insufficient service of process” not waived by removal).

12. Accordingly, this Notice of Removal is timely. See 28 U.S.C. § 1446(b).

13. Pursuant to § 1446(a), the VGW Group has filed herewith a copy of all process, pleadings, and orders filed in the case to date.

14. The VGW Group did not file responsive pleadings in the Circuit Court of Franklin County, Alabama, in advance of removing the case to this Court.

15. A copy of this Notice of Removal will be filed with the Circuit Court of Franklin County, Alabama, and a copy will be provided to all adverse parties pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1446(d).

16. Plaintiff’s allegations against the VGW Group in this case arise from the VGW Group’s development and publication of online casino-themed social games, which Plaintiff claims are unlawful contests of chance under Alabama law. Compl. ¶¶ 6–8, 13–15.

17. Plaintiff seeks to recover the amounts spent by all players in Alabama of the VGW Group’s alleged “online games of chance . . . including, but not limited to, slot machines, other casino-style games, card games and other games of chance” from August 25, 2022 to August 25, 2023 (Compl. ¶¶ 1, 6, 24, Prayer for Relief), “for the use of the wife, or if no wife, the children, or, if no children, the next of kin of the loser[s]” of the games in that state (Ala. Code § 8-1-150(b)), excluding purchases by individual players who spent $75,000 or more during that period.

18. Removal is based upon 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(a), 1332(d)(2)(A), 1441(a) and 1453. As set forth below, removal is proper for two independent reasons: (1) the amount in controversy exceeds $5,000,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and there is diversity of citizenship among all parties in this representative action seeking to recover on behalf of the families of players in Alabama who have made purchases playing the VGW Group’s games; and (2) the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and there is complete diversity among all parties.

II. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

19. By removing the state court action to this Court, the VGW Group does not consent to this Court’s exercise of personal jurisdiction over it in this action and reserves the right to move for dismissal on that and any other grounds available to them. See Kostelac, 517 Fed. App'x at 674 n.6.

20. This Court has jurisdiction under the Class Action Fairness Act (“CAFA”), 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2), which gives the Court “original jurisdiction of any civil action in which the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $5,000,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and is a class action in which . . . any member of a class of plaintiffs is a citizen of a State different from any defendant.”

21. Alternatively, this Court has jurisdiction under the Court’s diversity jurisdiction pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a), which provides the Court with “original jurisdiction of all civil actions where the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and is between . . . citizens of different states.”

22. Venue is proper in the Northern District of Alabama, Northwestern Division, because the state court action was filed in the Circuit Court of Franklin County, Alabama. Thus, this Court is “the district court of the United States for the district and division embracing the place where such action is pending.” 28 U.S.C. § 1441(a).

III. GROUNDS FOR REMOVAL

A. Removal Is Proper under the CAFA

23. Removal is proper under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(d)(2) and 1453(b).

Together, these statutes allow for the removal of any “class action” where minimal diversity exists, at least 100 class members are represented, and “the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $5,000,000, exclusive of interests and costs,” provided none of the grounds for mandatory declination of CAFA jurisdiction exists. See 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(d)(1)–(5). All requirements are met here.

24. The CAFA defines the phrase “class action” to mean “any civil action filed under rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or similar [s]tate statute or rule of judicial procedure authorizing an action to be brought by 1 or more representative persons as a class action.” 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(1)(B).

25. Congress intended “the definition of ‘class action’ [] to be interpreted liberally,” and that “[i]ts application should not be confined solely to lawsuits that are labeled ‘class actions’ by the named plaintiff or the state rulemaking authority.” S. Rep. No. 109-14, at 34–35 (2005). Congress has emphasized that “[g]enerally speaking, lawsuits that resemble a purported class action should be considered class actions for the purpose of applying these provisions.” Id.

26. There appears to be no controlling law from the Supreme Court or the Eleventh Circuit construing the phrase “class action” under the CAFA. However, the “CAFA’s language favors federal jurisdiction over class actions,” and “all doubts” are to be “resolved ‘in favor of exercising jurisdiction over the case.’” Evans v. Walter Indus., Inc., 449 F.3d 1159, 1163 (11th Cir. 2006)

27. The ordinary meaning of the phrase “class action” is a “lawsuit in which the court authorizes a single person or a small group of people to represent the interests of a larger group.” Black’s Law Dictionary; accord Alba Conte & Herbert B. Newberg, Newberg on Class Actions § 1.1. Moreover, in keeping with CAFA’s broad definition of “class action,” two other federal courts of appeals have held that CAFA confers subject-matter jurisdiction over any lawsuit that is “in substance a class action.” Addison Automatics, Inc. v. Hartford Cas. Ins., 731 F.3d 740, 742 (7th Cir. 2013); Williams v. Emp’rs Mut. Cas. Co., 845 F.3d 891, 901 (8th Cir. 2017) (same). From these two principles, courts have interpreted the CAFA to preclude plaintiffs from thwarting removal of a lawsuit that is “in substance a class action” by “disguis[ing] the true nature” of the suit. Addison Automatics, 731 F.3d at 742; accord Williams, 845 F.3d at 901. And this is what Plaintiff is trying to do here.

28. This action is “in substance a class action” because it is brought on behalf of the families of all players in Alabama of the VGW Group’s games. The complaint asserts claims under Alabama Code § 8-1-150(b), in a representative capacity on behalf of the families of all Alabama players who played the VGW Group’s games and seeks to recover all the money that those players spent on the games “for the use of” those players’ families. See Compl. ¶¶ 16, 17, 20, 25, Prayer for Relief. Indeed, Judge Burke recognized this to be the case in describing plaintiffs in the cases before him—plaintiffs in the same position as Plaintiff here—as “appear[ing] in a representative capacity.” See, e.g., Rice, 2023 WL 5198510, at *3 (emphasis added). Accordingly, in claiming to represent and to seek recovery for all Alabama players’ families, Plaintiff raises a common question of whether the VGW Group’s free-to-play online games constitute illegal gambling under § 8-1-150(b). Thus, this suit is, in substance, a “representative suit[] on behalf of [a] group[] of persons similarly situated.” Newberg § 1.1, at 2.

29. Removing this case will also further the CAFA’s purposes. The “CAFA’s primary objective [is] ensuring [f]ederal court consideration of interstate cases of national importance.” Standard Fire Ins. Co. v. Knowles, 568 U.S. 588, 595 (2013) (quotations omitted); accord Dart Cherokee Basin Operating Co., v. Owens, 574 U.S. 81, 89 (2014), 574 U.S. at 89. Congress also “enacted CAFA to address inequitable state court treatment of class actions and to put an end to certain abusive practices by plaintiffs’ class counsel.” Lowery v. Ala. Power Co., 483 F.3d 1184, 1193 (11th Cir. 2007).

30. This lawsuit directly implicates these concerns: Plaintiff is trying to recover millions of dollars representing the families of every person in Alabama who made purchases in the VGW Group’s games by invoking a never-before-used theory to avoid this Court’s jurisdiction; Plaintiff’s counsel sued eight other online gaming companies using this same novel theory to seek collectively tens of millions of dollars; Plaintiff voluntarily dismissed her previously removed case after realizing that the district court had original jurisdiction over the case; and Judge Burke noted that the identical cases before him were brought in a “representative capacity” and “could be viewed as a means to avoid filing a class action lawsuit.” E.g., Rice, 2023 WL 5198510, at *3 and n.3 (emphasis in original). As explained above, courts should interpret the definition of “class action” in the CAFA liberally to prevent the exact gamesmanship Plaintiff is displaying here to attempt to evade federal court jurisdiction.

31. Diversity of citizenship exists under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2) because Plaintiff and the families of players are citizens of Alabama and none of the VGW Group entities is a citizen of Alabama. See supra Section I.B; Compl. ¶ 16; Thunder Decl. ¶¶ 2–4. Because no VGW Group entity is a citizen of Alabama, none of the exceptions to CAFA jurisdiction applies. See 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332(d)(3)–(4); Thunder Decl. ¶¶ 2–4.

32. There are over 100 class members. See 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(5)(B); see also Thunder Decl. ¶ 7.

33. Lastly, the amount in controversy exceeds $5,000,000, exclusive of interest and costs, even when excluding purchases by individual players who spent

$75,000 or more during the relevant time period. See 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2), (6); Thunder Decl. ¶ 7.

34. Thus, CAFA jurisdiction exists under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(d)(2). Accordingly, removal is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1441(a) and 1332(d)(2).

B. Removal Is Proper under the Court’s Diversity Jurisdiction

35. Alternatively, removal of this case is proper under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1441(a), 1441(b), and 1332(a). Together, these statutes allow for the removal of any civil action between “citizens of different states” where the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000, provided that no defendant “properly joined and served . . . is a citizen of the State in which such action is brought.” 28 U.S.C. § 1441(b). All requirements are met here.

36. The “amount in controversy” element of diversity jurisdiction requires that “the matter in controversy exceed[] the sum or value of $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs.” 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a).

37. In determining whether the amount in controversy requirement is satisfied where, as here, there is an unspecified claim for damages, the removing defendant need only prove by a “preponderance of the evidence” that the amount in controversy exceeds the jurisdictional minimum. Jones v. Novartis Pharm. Co., 952 F. Supp. 2d 1277, 1282 (N.D. Ala. 2013). District courts “may use their ‘judicial experience and common sense’ in deciding whether the case stated in a complaint meets federal jurisdictional requirements.” Id. at 1283.

38. To meet its burden, the removing defendant may present additional evidence to establish that the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000, including “affidavits, declarations, or other documentation.” Id.; see also Pretka v. Kolter City Plaza II, Inc., 608 F.3d 744, 756 (11th Cir. 2010) (concluding defendants could “submit [their] own evidence in order to satisfy the jurisdictional requirements of removal,” including defendants’ own affidavits, declarations, or other documents).

39. Here, the amount in controversy requirement is satisfied based on the allegations in the complaint and declaration attached hereto. Plaintiff seeks to recover, pursuant to Alabama Code § 8-1-150(b), the amounts spent by all players of the VGW Group’s games in Alabama from August 25, 2022, to August 25, 2023, “for the use of the wife, or if no wife, the children, or, if no children, the next of kin of the loser[s]” of the games in this state, excluding purchases by individual players who spent $75,000 or more during that period. Compl. ¶¶ 1, 6, 24, Prayer for Relief. The total amount spent by Alabama players of the VGW Group’s casino-themed social games from August 25, 2022, to August 25, 2023, which is the limitations period alleged by Plaintiff, exceeds $75,000. Thunder Decl. ¶ 7.

40. Complete diversity of citizenship exists because Plaintiff is domiciled in Alabama and none of the VGW Group entities are incorporated or headquartered in Alabama. 28 U.S.C. § 1441(b); see supra Section I.B.

41. Accordingly, removal is proper pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1441(a), 1441(b), and 1332(a).

42. Although Judge Burke rejected the argument in Rice that the amounts spent by unnamed Alabamans could be aggregated to reach the $75,000 threshold for traditional diversity jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1332(a), the VGW Group respectfully disagrees with Judge Burke's decision. See supra Section I.A.

IV. CONCLUSION

43. Removal of this action is proper under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1332, 1441, 1446, and 1453.

44. By removing the state court action to this Court, the VGW Group reserves and does not waive any and all defenses, objections or motions available to them under state or federal law, including any defenses under Rule 12 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

WHEREFORE, the VGW Group hereby removes this action from the Circuit Court of Franklin County, Alabama, to the United States District Court for the Northern District of Alabama, Northwestern Division. This Notice has been served on all counsel of records on the date and manner stated in the Certificate of Service.
